

Delphine de Luppé

Le vocabulaire pictural de Delphine de Luppé tente de réduire, dans l'affrontement des contraires, l'objet au signe. Ses figures oscillent entre des surfaces griffonnées et des structures concrètes. Ce dialogue confond, partage et module les plans des peintures. Sous les syncopes des bâtons d'huile se dessinent des lignes droites et des formes géométriques, aplats colorés, découpes architecturales, jeux de perspective et de matière, cartographies urbaines et rurales, dessus, dessous, dedans.

Le travail récent pousse encore l'idée du zoom topographique. Par une perspective contrainte, l'artiste tente de contenir dans la surface exacte de la toile, l'ensemble de la scène. Elle envisage ses travaux comme des murs qui bloqueraient le regard.

Delphine de Luppé utilise également des images récupérées de livres anciens, guides de voyage, traités techniques, ouvrages privés... Brutes, elle les recouvre d'un réseau coloré qui en exalte la part saillante. Points noirs ou lignes rouges caressent l'imprimé comme l'échafaudage dévoile les reliefs du bâti qu'il protège. Reproduites sur de grandes bâches de chantier, les images deviennent un canevas où la laine brode une nouvelle histoire, y ajoutant un signe, y dupliquant une trace.

Delphine de Luppé's pictorial vocabulary attempts to reduce the object to a symbol, in a clash of opposites. Her figures fluctuate between scribbled surfaces and defined structures. This concept blends, shares and shapes the plans of her paintings. Straight lines and geometric shapes, colourful flat tints, architectural cross-sections, optical illusions and material combinations, urban and rural maps take shape over, under and within one another, to the beat of oil sticks.

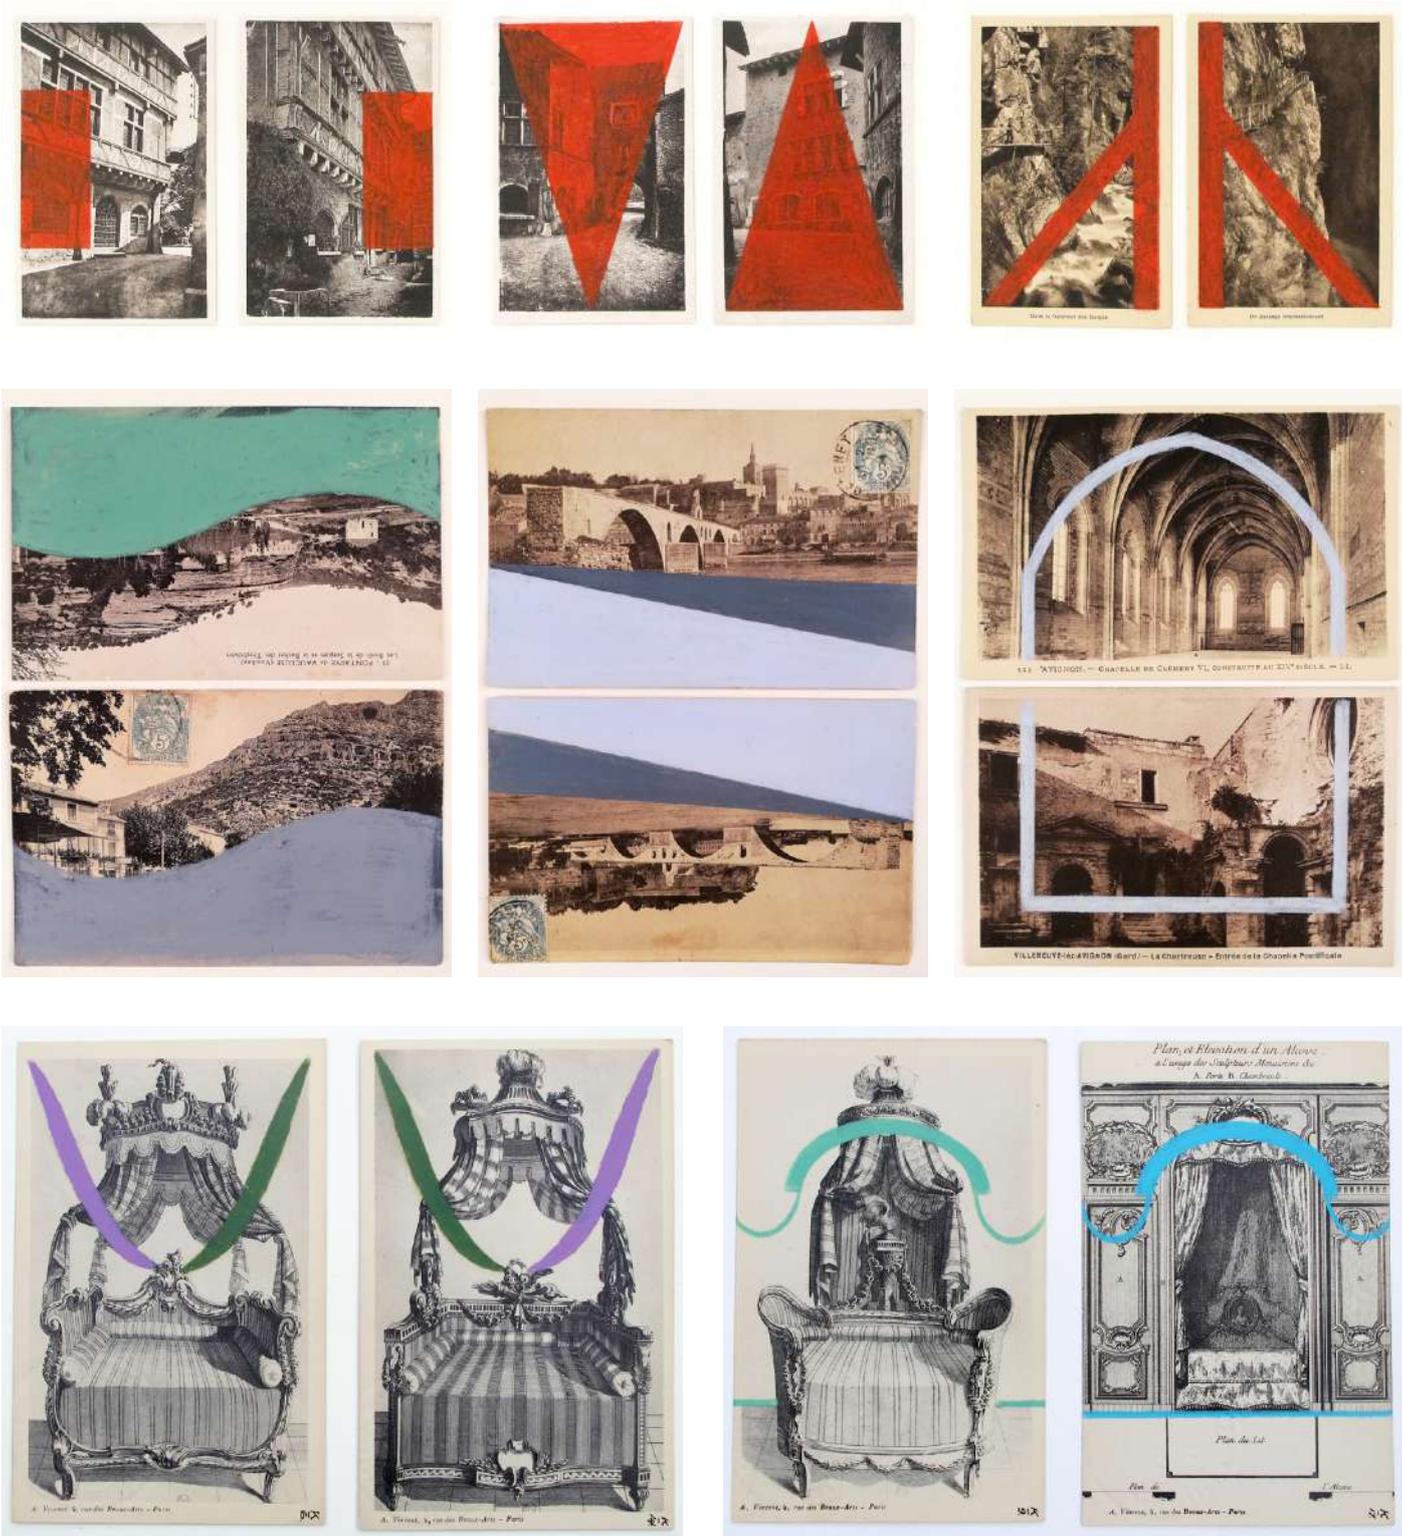

Her recent work delves further into the concept of topographic zoom. Through a restricted perspective, the artist attempts to contain the entire scene within the surface area of the canvas. She sees her work as walls that block the view.

Delphine de Luppé also uses images taken from old books, travel guides, technical documents, private works... She takes the original images and covers them with a coloured network, which brings out the prominent part. Black dots or red lines skim over the print, just as scaffolding reveals the shape of the building it protects. Reproduced on large construction tarpaulins, the images become a canvas where wool embroiders a new story, by adding a symbol, by duplicating a line.
